q4. In recent Saskatchewan byelections, Premier Scott Moe warns of potential vote splitting after the newly formed Saskatchewan United Party took 23% of the vote in a traditional Saskatchewan Party stronghold, resulting in the Saskatchewan Party retaining only one out of three seats and losing two to the NDP.

In your opinion, do you agree that the emergence of the Saskatchewan United Party could lead to vote splitting and potentially affect the results of future elections in Saskatchewan?

Strongly agree

Somewhat agree

Disagree

Not sure

q5. Do you believe that the results of the byelections are indicative of Saskatchewan residents' desire for a change in the provincial government?

Yes

No

Not sure

q6. Saskatoon woman, Dawn Walker, received a one-year jail sentence to be served in the community after abducting her child, using false identification to flee to the U.S., and orchestrating their disappearance. While Walker argues it was a desperate move to protect her child and herself from her allegedly abusive ex-partner, the prosecution does not agree with the abuse claims.

A joint submission from the prosecutor and defence was accepted, resulting in a one-year conditional sentence order followed by 18 months of probation for Walker. That means Walker will serve her sentence in the community, so long as she abides by strict court-imposed conditions.

Based on what you know, do you believe that a one-year sentence to be served in the community is an appropriate punishment for Dawn Walker's actions?

Yes, I feel the sentence was appropriate

No, the sentence was too light

No, the sentence was too severe

Not sure

q7. Saskatoon school divisions have warned parents of possible labour disruptions after 95% of the Saskatchewan Teacher's Federation (STF) members voted in favor of job action, including potential strikes, following stalled contract negotiations.

Based on what you know, please rate your level of agreement with each of the following statements:

The potential teacher job action and labour disruptions are justified given the stalled contract negotiations
The impact on students and families due to potential job actions like strikes is concerning
The Saskatchewan government should expedite negotiations to prevent potential disruptions in schools

Strongly agree
